

How to read an entry — Monier-Williams, A Sanskrit-English Dictionary (MW, 1899)

A specimen page after the model of Duden’s Deutsches Universalwörterbuch entry-anatomy spread: real entries re-typeset from the Cologne digital text, every microstructural element labelled.

Entries: the three homographs of heman with the hema- compound run, and the three homograph roots gup with participles.

Subordinate headword in roman only — rarer words get no Devanāgarī in the 1899 print; the acute accent marks the Vedic udātta (hemán)

Citation by work + locus, more compressed than PWG: RV. ix, 97, 1 — roman numerals for the book

Commentator in parentheses: Sāyaṇa’s divergent gloss ‘gold’ noted inline

Main headword: Devanāgarī + bold transliteration — the print’s two-script convention; homograph number between them

Accent position differs: héman ‘winter’ vs. hemán ‘impulse’ — as in PWG, tone tells homographs apart

Etymological judgment stated openly — ‘of doubtful derivation’; MW flags what it cannot derive

&c. after citations = attested widely from that point on; MW compresses where PWG enumerates

Botanical identification in Linnaean binomials — plant names are identified, not just translated (Mesua Roxburghii)

Compound stub: hema ‘in comp. for 3. heman’ opens the compound run — homograph number carried along

Compounds run on inside one paragraph: the dash replaces the first member (— kakṣa = hema-kakṣa) — hundreds of compounds per column this way

g° = ‘golden’: even the recurring gloss word is abbreviated to its initial inside the compound run

mf(ā)n. = adjective of three genders, feminine stem in -ā — the parenthesis gives the feminine formation

MW · P. 1304, COL. 1–2

१. Hemán n. impulse, RV. ix, 97, 1 (SĀY. ‘gold’); water, NAIGH. I, 12.

हेमन् २. héman (see himá and next), winter (only used in loc., ‘in the winter’), TS.; KĀTH.; ŚBR.

हेमन् ३. heman n. (of doubtful derivation) gold, NAIGH. I, 2; MN.; MBH. &c.; a gold piece, KATHĀS.; (pl.) golden ornaments, KUVAL.; Mesua Roxburghii, CAR.; the thorn-apple, MW.

१. Hema in comp. for ३. heman. — kakṣa m. a golden girdle, VĀS.; mf(ā)n. having g° walls, R.; = next, MBH. — kakṣya mfn. having a g° girdle, R. — kaṇṭha m. a proper N. CAT. — kandala m. having g° shoots, coral, L. — kaṃala n. a g° lotus, KATHĀS. — kampana m. N. of a man, MBH. — kara m. ‘g°-worker’, N. of Śiva, IB.; (with maithila) N. of an author, CAT. — karaka m. a g° vase, L. — karṭṛ m. a goldsmith, MN. XII, 61; a kind of bird, MW.

... the compound run continues for another four columns of the print (hema-kalaśa ... hema-hasti-ratha)

MW · P. 358, COL. 3 – P. 359, COL. 1

गुप् १. gup cl. ४. P. °pyati (p. Ā. gupyamāna, in Prākṛt guppam ° JAIN.), to become perplexed or confused, DHĀTUP. XXVI, 123.

गुप् २. gup (for pr. &c. See gopaya & °pāya, from which the root is derived [cf. PĀṇ. III, 1, 28 & 31]; perf. jugopa, MBH. &c.; 3. pl. jugupur, RV. VII, 103, 9; AV. &c.; fut. 2nd gopsyati, AV.; ŚBR. VI &c.; fut. 1st goptā or gopitā, PĀṇ. VII, 2, 44; aor. agaupsit or agopit, PĀṇ. III, 1, 50, KĀŚ.) to guard, defend, protect, preserve (from abl.), RV. VII, 103, 9; AV. &c.; to hide, conceal, ŚÍŚ. XVI, 30 (inf. gopitum) : Caus. gopayati &c. See ss.vv. gopaya and °pāya: Desid. Ā. jugupsate (PĀṇ. III, 1, 5; ep. also P. °tī) to seek to defend one's self from (abl.), be on one's guard (cf. I, 4, 24, Vārtt. 1), ŚĀÑKHGr. IV, 12; GOBH.; CHUp. V, 10, 8; to beware of, shun, avoid, detest, spurn, despise (with acc.), MN.; YĀJÑ.; MBH. &c.; to feel offended or hurt, MBH. I, 6375; III, 1934 : Desid. of Desid. jugupsiṣate, PĀṇ. III, 1, 7, Vārtt. 15, PAT.; VI, 1, 9, KĀŚ.

३. Gup mfn. ifc. ‘defending, protecting’, see dharma-; being on one's guard or preserving one's self from, NAIS. VI, 66.

Gupitā mfn. protected, guarded, RV. x, 85, 4 and 109, 3; AV. II, 28, 4; x, 10, 4; XVIII, 4, 70.

Gupila m. ‘a protector’, king, Uṇ. I, 57.

Guptā mfn. protected, guarded, preserved, AV. &c.; hidden, concealed, kept secret, secret, BHARTṚ.; PAÑCAT.; KATHĀS. &c. (with daṇḍa, a secret fine, fine secretly imposed or exacted, HIT.; cf. gūḍha-d°); = saṃgata (? joined, combined), W.

Roots as headwords: three homograph roots gup — same lemma family as PWG’s treatment, one column to compare cl. 4. P. = present class 4, parasmaipada — Whitney-style verb classification up front

° elides the repeated stem: °pyati = gupyati

Prākṛt evidence cited inside a Sanskrit entry — Middle-Indic forms in italics with their source

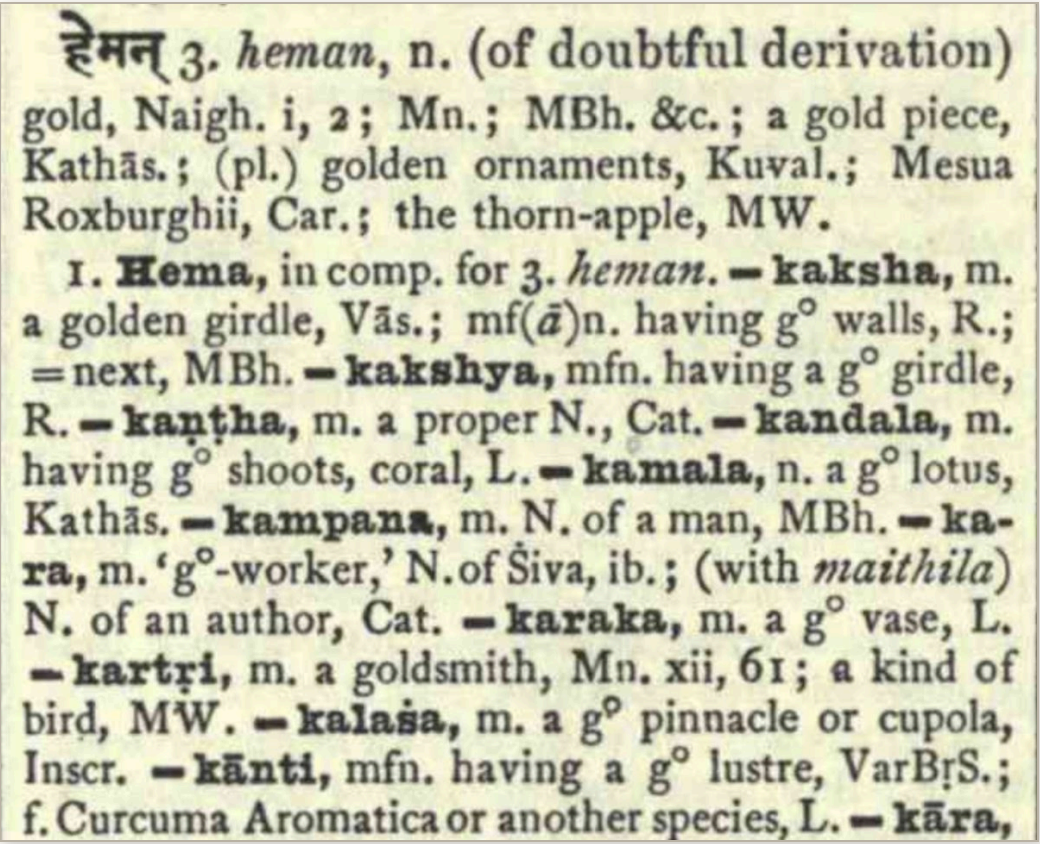

Principal parts listed with grammarians’ references: perf. jugopa, fut. gopsyati, aor. agaupsit — each form documented from Pāṇini or the literature

Derived stems get their own sense blocks: the desiderative jugupsate ‘to shun, detest’ — semantically emancipated from ‘guard’

Literal meaning in quotation marks before the lexicalised use — ifc. (‘at the end of a compound’)

Accented participle gupitā — Vedic forms keep their udātta even as subordinate headwords

One entry, several senses joined by semicolons — in the digital text these are separate records; the print runs them on (guptā ‘protected; hidden; kept secret’)

The same entries in the 1899 print: Monier-Williams, A Sanskrit-English Dictionary, new ed., p. 1304, col. 2 — ‘3. heman’ with Devanāgarī headword and the beginning of the compound run. Scan: Cologne Sanskrit-Lexicon.